In the Faculty of Arts, Humanities and Social Science, the Institute of Political Science seeks to fill the Chair (W3) of Political Systems and Comparative Politics as soon as possible.

The holder of the position shall be capable of representing the specified area with high dedication in research as well as in education concerning Bachelor and Master programs as well as teacher training. The duties include participation in academic selfadministration. The applicant is supposed to take part in the method training courses of the faculty. A comparative perspective in research is required. Special emphasis is put on high-quality international publications, strong international contacts, and independently acquired and successfully conducted interdisciplinary research projects. Furthermore, the applicant should have the willingness to cooperate in the established fields of research of the faculty and should have extensive experience in acquiring third-party funding as well as project and group management.

A challenging research program in one of the following topics is expected: “The study of democracy and constitutions”, “Processes of internationalisation and transnationalisation of politics” or “Study of political transfer and implementations”. The ability and willingness to teach courses in English language is expected. Applicants must fulfil the employment qualification requirements of § 58 of the Act on the Autonomy of Institutions of Higher Education in the Free State of Saxony (SächsHSFG).

TU Dresden seeks to employ more female professors. Hence we particularly encourage women to apply. Applications from candidates with disabilities or those requiring additional support are very welcome. The University is a certified family-friendly university and offers a Dual Career Service. If you have any questions about these topics, please contact the Equal Opportunities Officer of the Faculty of Arts, Humanities and Social Science (Ms. Josefine Went, gleichstellung.phf@tu-dresden.de) or the Representative of Employees with Disabilities (Mr. Roberto Lemmrich, phone: +49 351 463-33175).

Please send your application together with a curriculum vitae, a description of your scientific career, a list of scientific publications, a list of research projects with information on external funding received, a list of classes taught, results of teaching evaluations, and one certified copy of the highest academic degree by 28.02.2019 (stamped arrival date of the university central mail service applies) to: TU Dresden, Philosophische Fakultät, Dekanin, Frau Prof. Dr. phil.
