The Faculty of Biology invites applications for the Junior Professorship (W1) for History of Botany and Horticulture

for an initial period of four years to be filled at the earliest possible date. After a positive interim evaluation, the employment will be extended to a total of six years. The evaluation procedure is based on mutually agreed evaluation criteria. Essential performance criteria are:

- the successful development of an independent research profile and its visibility in the form of national and international peer-reviewed publications and at international conferences,
- the successful acquisition of third-party funds and the initiation of cooperative projects with the Institute of Landscape Architecture and the Botanical Garden but especially with the Faculty of Arts, Humanities and Social Science in which a second affiliation is desired and
- participation in teaching in the study programs of the Faculty of Biology and the Faculty of Arts, Humanities and Social Science, also in English, as well as positively evaluated teaching performance.

We particularly value your willingness to work in an interdisciplinary manner and high motivation to work on the development of botany and horticulture, with a focus on the 19th to the beginning of the 20th century in the Dresden area. Special attention can be given to the horticultural society FLORA, the Natural History Society ISIS, the role of the Botanical Garden and its first director H.G.L. Reichenbach, up to the era of Friedrich Tobler in the 1930s.

Do you (m/f/x) have an excellent relevant PhD and have already proven that you can publish research results in high-ranking international journals and present them at international conferences? If so, we welcome your application, especially if you have a strong background in research on the history of the natural sciences in the long 19th century. However, individuals with a general interest in the history of science (and an interest in the history of biology/botany) of this period are also welcome to apply. Applicants must fulfil the employment qualification requirements of § 63 of the Act on the Autonomy of Institutions of Higher Education in the Free State of Saxony (SächsHSFG).

For further questions, please contact the chairman of the hiring committee, Prof. Dr. Christoph Neinhuis, Tel. +49 351 463-32970; e-mail: christoph.neinhuis@tu-dresden.de at your disposal.

TU Dresden supports junior professors and tenure track professors with a program specifically tailored to their needs. The YOU-PROF program (https://tu-dresden.de/karriere/berufung/junior-tenure-track-programm) provides mentoring, various coaching sessions, and special continuing education programs and support offers provide active professional guidance throughout the duration of the temporary position at the junior professorship.

TU Dresden seeks to employ more female professors. Hence, we particularly encourage women to apply. Applications from candidates with disabilities or those requiring additional support are very welcome. The University is a certified family-friendly university and offers a Dual Career Service. If you have any questions about these topics, please contact the Equal Opportunities Officer of the Faculty of Biology (Dr. Stefanie Wiedmer, +49 351 463-36949) or the Equal Opportunities Officer (Mr. Robert Lemmrich, Tel.: +49 351 463-33175).

Please submit your application including a CV in tabular form, a description of your scientific career, a list of publications and previous teaching activities including the results of the teaching evaluation.
(preferably of the last three years) as well as a certified copy of the certificate of the highest academic degree preferably in electronic form as a single PDF document via the SecureMail Portal of TU Dresden, https://securemail.tu-dresden.de to dekanat.biologie@tu-dresden.de or TU Dresden, Fakultät Biologie, Dekan, Herrn Prof. Thorsten Mascher, Helmholtzstr. 10, 01069 Dresden by November 11, 2022 (stamped arrival date of the university central mail service applies).

Reference to data protection: Your data protection rights, the purpose for which your data will be processed, as well as further information about data protection is available to you on the website: https://tu-dresden.de/karriere/datenschutzhinweis